Hi everyone:

I'm trying to get everyone together to discuss likely timing behind the JLI menthol clinical data. In order to make a JLI public announcement in early August, we (mktg) need to understand when the data is coming in, when SAB review will be, etc. This will help us out in determining the appropriate vehicles & validation implications.

Please let me know if you will be able to participate by replying to this meeting request. I will email you some pages for this discussion later this week. Thanks.
